winter warmth

We've thought of some chic ways to bring a little cosiness into your home this season, whether it's through glowing colour, clever cookware or a styling idea. Some are inspired by our personal finds as well as stories in this issue – a warming whiskey in a classic crystal tumbler perhaps?

We've been just a little bit obsessed with copper lately. It's been on trend for a while in architectural finishes and the like and we're finally starting to see it trickle down to home appliances and tableware. We love its warmth and glow, whether in a shiny finish or a cool matte look. Why not work a few pieces into your winter palette this season.

A hip flask really evokes the romance of another era – Prohibition to be exact. Of men playing cards and smoking cigars, taking a swig of whiskey from a carefully secreted bottle. We like this flask as much for its whimsical inscription as its Gatsby-esque overtones. It would make a cute gift for the whiskey-lover in your life. ■
